The New Tax Bill.

The Ways and Means Committee have made a careful estimate of the probable reduction of the taxes under the new bill The total reduction is about seventy five millions of dollars Among the reductions are the following

Income tax	$20 000 000
Boots and shoes	4 000 000
Clothing	11 000 000
Pig iron	2,000 000
Paper books &c	2,072,000
Crude petroleum	6,100 000
Slaughtered animals	1 200 000
Freights	4 350 000
General tax	12,000 000
Sheathing and yellow metal	700 000
Tobacco	650 000

Out of the $20,000 000 reduction in the income tax, $17 000 000 results from the abolition of the ten per cent tax on sums exceeding $5,000 The new law puts the income tax at a uniform rate of five per cent

Petroleum Relieved.

From the Philadelphia Commercial

The remission of the tax upon crude petroleum which went into effect May 9th will have an excellent effect The duty was one which bore heavily upon small wells Where a lucky strike was made which produced its hundreds of barrels per day, the amount of this tax was of little importance The owners of the oil did not feel it, but upon the pumping wells which produced three four or six barrels a day and which required nearly as much expenditure for machinery and for labor in attention to the flow, as the more bountiful reservoirs the effect was to tax them out of existence Now the number of these small wells was very considerable They were in the hands of gleaners if we might use the word in distinction to those who reaped large crops Poor men had them in charge, and although their profits were small they paid much more than could be obtained for the same amount of labor and capital in other positions—The aggregate of these small pumpings also added very considerably to the total yield in the course of a year and the government will do better to collect revenue from the refined article because the amount of the latter will be very perceptibly increased The exemption also extends to paraffine The action of Congress seems to have been wise, and it will be acquiesced in by all who have any knowledge in relation to the matter

WANTED—A HOTEL.

A Loud Call for a Yankee Hotel Keeper in Paris—Comical Description of the Miseries of Caravansera Life in the Great City—How a Young Man was "done" in a Barber Shop.

Paris Correspondence New York Herald

I think it a little strange that one of your shrewd American landlords who whatever else they may be lacking in certainly can keep a hotel have not conceived the idea of establishing during the exhibition year after which it would necessarily become one of the fixed and most popular institutions in Paris—a hotel kept upon the liberal American plan There certainly never was a wider field for enterprise in hotel keeping than in Paris Here in the capital of the world in a city numbering nearly two million in population there are really but two hotels—the Grand and the Hotel de Louvre—of modern construction The others, like the Meurice, the Bristol, the Windsor and the Mirabeau, are still kept in the same old buildings that they were before the age of railroads, and when English nobles descended at them from post chaises muddy and dirty with the travel from Calais to Boulogne The two hotels referred to though new and well conducted, lack in many things the comforts which are now considered necessities with you The rooms do not contain gas or water and the hotel is carried up in pods in limited quantities The sitting rooms and chambers contain no grates and guests are not allowed to burn coal, upon the pretext that it injures the gilding and paint but in reality to enable the proprietors to get from five to ten francs a day of each guest who has a wood fire in his room

Then the system of charging is an annoyance one In these two hotels the prices of rooms vary according to the floor upon which they are situated An uninitiated visitor upon being informed that the price of his room for a day is six francs would be inclined to believe that such would be the price When he receives his bill however he learns his mistake In addition to the price charged for room there is a charge of from one to two francs a day for "service," and if the guest only stops one night he is charged one franc in the bill for a candle with which to light himself to bed Now this would not be so annoying were he informed that the price of his room would be eight francs which it really amounts to or if after paying for service he was not expected to fee all the waiters and chambermaids who have ever rendered him any The service money is a mere fiction Not a son of it goes to waiters or chambermaids, who are employed at very low wages, and depend principally upon the gifts of guests

In the cafes and eating rooms of these hotels too, guests after paying exorbitant prices for everything are expected to give pourboires to the waiters who here receive no pay from the house In these places as in all cafes in Paris every thing is conducted upon a microscopic plan everything being ridiculously small except the charges

These are the customs which prevail in all the hotels and cafes in Paris Now, it seems to me that a smart American landlord who would introduce gas, and hot and cold water, into every room in his house who would permit his guests in winter to have good coal fires at reasonable rates who would charge so much a day for a room, including service and lights who would pay his servants and cut off all pourboires about his hotel would immediately and always have his house full Europeans chafe terribly under all these little swindles and annoyances but they are the custom and there seems to them no way of getting rid of them In connection with the hotel I mention dressing and bathing rooms such as you have in New York where a man could have a comfortable bath and a shave and know how much he is to pay for them would be a valuable and important feature In Paris when one goes into a bathing house (and they are with few exceptions all dirty and dilapidated) he first buys a bath ticket a servant shows him to a room and takes his ticket the tub is usually too short and when in it the customer finds that there is neither soap nor towels furnished him the door of the bath room is locked and the key on the outside and if he wants soap and towels he must ring for them, these are charged for and when he is through with his bath he must ring again and fee the waiter before he can get out

In the hair dressing and shaving establishments all sorts of petty little swindles and annoyances are practiced The high backed barber's chair is unknown here and a man being shaved must seat himself in an ordinary one and run the risk of breaking his neck leaning back When his hair is cut if his head is rubbed—Lavon a friction as they term it—that is charged extra for If his beard or moustache is trimmed or a bit of pomade put on it that is charged extra for, and when everything is paid for the journeyman who has done the work expects to be paid A young gentleman fresh from New York, where he had been in the habit of having his hair dressing and cutting done in a complete manner and at a fixed price, went into the barber shop of the Grand Hotel a few days since and asked to have his hair cut After this had been done the workman asked if he would have "a little oil on his hair? Of course he replied "yes," and then the suggestion was made as to "cologne water" which was also accepted Then a little pomade upon the beard and some "pomade Hongroise" upon the moustache were applied, after the requisite permission had been granted When all was finished the youth took from his a pocket frank and handed it to the workman, supposing that would cover all expenses He was politely requested to walk to the counter, where a bill of twenty-eight francs was presented to him as the price of his toilet Some half dozen open bottles were also presented to him, and then he learned that each accepted suggestion of the barber had been accompanied with the opening of a new bottle for which he was charged, and to which he was certainly entitled He considered the joke so huge that he paid the bill without a murmur stuffing the bottles in his pockets And this is one of the modes in which strangers are "taken in and done for" in this ungodly city.

A Great War in Europe.

The London correspondent of the New York Times writes by the last steamer as follows "There is abroad a feeling, based on no reason, that great events are approaching No one can tell why this is so, but it is talked of everywhere Of course there are vague ideas about the fulfillment of prophecies, which are variously interpreted, and which none seem to understand—After all the fact of a wide spread apprehension exists that there will be a great war in Europe as there has been in America As war and pestilence are united in the minds of men as the two greatest calamities, we are also looking for the cholera, which, so near as Rotterdam, we can scarcely expect will keep off for another season" The Paris correspondent of the same paper writes as follows "At present it appears as if a general war were inevitable, and the greatest excitement prevails on the subject The number of fortunes lost within a few days are numerous, and the excitement at the Bourse has run so high that some of the official dealers refused for a time to engage in transactions of any kind—a proceeding quite contrary to law and without precedent till now An impression has gone abroad that the Emperor is urging again his old scheme of a congress, and that there may yet be a chance of peace from that source But the Emperor, after the abrupt refusals his proposition met at the time it was made, cannot again renew it in an official form Certain of the peace organs are urging the scheme, and it is even said that Mr Gladstone is to arrive here to day on that business, but even if that be his errand, it is probably too late, for the Count Bismark and Victor Emmanuel want war, and they are going to have it

Spring and Summer Fashions.

Fashion, this season, is pleased to be very gay and very peculiar Odd little bonnets of the faintest designs from the apex to objects constructed on no architectural model save that of the Pyramids, the base being exceedingly wide and broad, and differing from those ancient Egyptian specimens of art only in the modeling of waist and the projection of arms

Take the whole effect, however, and, save where there is unnecessary exaggeration, it is not bad The contrast of color is pleasant without being too glaring Harmony is insisted upon, and though there are many novelties, and great variety in style, material and trimmings, good taste suggests the impropriety of mixing or overloading with ornament any article of costume and finds much more elegance in quiet simplicity than in vulgar display

Embroidery has been revived to an extent which renders it a most important element in ornamenting dresses, suits, skirts, and articles of clothing of all kinds Scarcely an article of dress comprised in ladies and children's wardrobes but is indebted to this method of producing a highly decorative effect The fashionable impetus has undoubtedly been given by the beautiful embroidery executed by the Grover & Baker Machine, by the furore which it has excited abroad, and the admiration and patronage which it has received in the highest circles Not only dresses cloaks, suits, balmoral skirts and the more important articles of clothing are now ornamented with machine embroidery but parasols (which are afterward dotted or filled up with beads) slippers both of kid and satin and gaiter boots both for walking and visiting wear

This fashionable rage renders the possession of a Grover & Baker Machine indispensable to fashionable dress makers and most desirable to families where the mother executes most of the sewing and wishes to dress herself and children handsomely, and at the same time economically

Morning dresses are made of cambric, or percale If of the latter they are either gored or made into a short or short jacket, which is worn with a white tucked chemizette The gored dresses are beautifully embroidered down the seams in a narrow and very simple pattern, and sometimes scalloped out round the bottom the jackets are also embroidered and the skirts either in an apron pattern, as a border or in small pyramids upon the skirt

Striped cambrics are very often trimmed with frills of the material, but plain cambric dresses are extremely pretty trimmed with bands of cambric of a contrasting color, stitched on with the machine

We hardly know whether this is the proper place to discuss such matters but we may just mention for the benefit of housekeepers that the newest and most stylish library table and piano covers are made of plain light brown or neutral, shades of cloth stitched upon the edge and ornamented in the centre with beautiful designs in embroidery machine stitching

General News.

THERE was a terrific storm in Rochester N Y last Sunday afternoon of wind rain and hail accompanied with thunder and lightning A number of buildings were unroofed, awnings were torn down and glass was broken to the extent of many thousand panes In some of the public buildings churches, &c, scarcely a whole pane of glass was left A number of persons are reported injured The damage to the property is very great The storm appears to have been confined to that locality, and lasted but a few minutes

NEW YORK, May 22

Some details of the fight at Callao published say that the Peruvians had nine batteries mounted with 32 pounder guns and 300 pounder Armstrongs and 450 pounder Blakely rifles, besides the iron clads Huascar and Victoria and three wooden gunboats. In less than half an hour the Villa De Madrid had her motive power injured and was towed out of action. The Bermudez moved out twenty minutes later, having received a heavy rifled shot near the water line, leaking badly and obliged to careen to prevent sinking. At half past two the Blanca and Resolution retired to repair injuries, but soon returned to Pontoon, and with the rest of the fleet, except the two first named, continued the fight to the end of the action.

Soon after the commencement of the battle, a Peruvian battery containing two 300 pounder Armstrongs, was blown up, dismounting guns, killing or wounding every one in the vicinity. In another battery a 300 pounder Armstrong was dismounted at the first fire. With this exception the fire of the Peruvian batteries was heavy and well directed, and every moment became more accurate and destructive. Soon after five o'clock the Spaniards retired, the batteries firing till they were out of range. The last gun was fired by the monitor Victoria.

The Peruvians are said to have lost 60 killed and 170 wounded. The shot disabling the steam pipe of the Villa de Madrid killed 18 and wounded 21; and it was thought there that the total Spanish loss far exceeded that of the Peruvians. That vessel had eight shot-holes inside. The Blanca was struck sixty times and the others nearly as many. The Numancia, being iron clad, came off very well, but one 8-inch rifled projectile pierced her five and a half inch iron plates and went partly through the wooden backing. She was fought so as to receive the fire at an angle—hence her plating caused the shot to glance.

The officers of the Vanderbilt think the Spaniards are in no condition to renew the attack. They had only solid shot, so the city was little injured.

A Gold Mine on West Hickory!

An "intelligent contraband" brought news to the city yesterday of the discovery of a gold quartz on West Hickory, ten miles from this city. The story goes that several weeks ago something resembling gold bearing quartz was discovered at a depth of twenty-three feet, in a well being sunk on the farm of the Pittsburgh Petroleum Company. Samples of the ore were sent to Philadelphia and Pittsburgh to be analyzed. The results were so satisfactory that the miners are now sinking on eight foot shaft in the place where the quartz was found. They have reached a depth of twenty feet, and at last accounts were within arm's length of the precious metal. There is no doubting the fact that large amounts of gold have been "sunk" in various parts of the oil region, and if any of it can be recovered by a similar process, it will be a grand discovery for the patentee. Quarts of gold or gold bearing quartz would prove a very desirable medium of exchange during Culver's suspension.

THE STATE BANKS.—The House has refused, by a large majority, even to allow an inquiry into the expediency of reporting a bill repealing the tax of ten per cent. which is to be placed on all State bank circulation after the 1st of July next. This settles the question against the remaining State banks, all of which are anxious for the repeal of the tax, or the postponement of the time for its collection.

The tendency and no doubt the intention of this tax is to force all State bank issues out of circulation, and after July 1st, our currency will be Government issues or "National." Since the failure of the three banks in our immediate neighborhood the torn and defaced bills of other States have formed no small part of our circulating medium. In view of the change about to take place in the character of the bank paper we are to handle, it becomes our business men and dealers to begin at once to lessen the amount of notes of other States now in circulation, by sending them home for redemption, and after a short time, refuse them altogether.

RECIVER APPOINTED.—The Comptroller of the Currency has appointed Harvey Henderson, Esq., of Meadville, Receiver of the Venango National Bank. We notice that an exhibit of the liabilities and assets of the National Bank at Washington, which closed its doors only a few days ago, is already before the public. Is it a part of Mr. Henderson's duty to throw light upon the Venango National? It is certainly due to the patient victims that an exhibit should be made without further delay, and that the real facts of the situation should be made known.—Nothing is to be gained by keeping the public longer in suspense.

PENSIONS.—A bill has just passed the United States Senate supplementary to the acts relating to pensions. It provides that twenty-five dollars per month shall be paid to persons who have been permanently injured in the military or naval service of the country, and incapacitated for labor in consequence; twenty dollars per month to those who are not obliged to have continual care and attention; and fifteen dollars per month to those who have lost a hand, arm or leg. The bill is especially stringent in regard to the transfer of pension claims, expressly forbidding the sale, mortgage or other disposition of them to second parties.

MUNICIPAL LIBERALITY.—The Councils of Philadelphia have appropriated the enormous sum of one thousand dollars towards defraying the expenses of the ceremonies incident to the reception of the State flags, on the 4th of July. It is expected that at least one hundred thousand people will visit Philadelphia to be present at this reception, and that it will cost each visitor at least five dollars while sojourning there, making a total of half a million of dollars carried to that city, in exchange for this beggarly and contemptible appropriation for their entertainment.

THE SOLDIERS' CONVENTION.—The Pittsburg Commercial says: The Soldiers' State Convention which will assemble in this city on the 5th of June, promises to be a decided success. The Committee of Arrangements have been notified that besides the regular delegation of five persons from each Congressional District, fifteen hundred veterans, from Philadelphia, dressed in uniform, design being present on the occasion.—The session of the Convention will be held in City Hall. The Soldiers' League, of this city, will hold a meeting on Friday evening, when the arrangements will be completed.

PIANO TRADE AT HOME.—We are glad to know that our citizens patronize home enterprise. Messrs. Brown & Vick, two very industrious and worthy young men, sold three fine pianos last week, one to go out of town and two to citizens of this city. These gentlemen are agents for all the best manufacturers in the country. They also keep cabinet organs, melodeons, guitars, violins, flutes and other musical instruments, and a large and carefully selected stock of sheet music. Their rooms are in the Petroleum Block, No. 7 Franklin street. See their advertisement in another column.

ADMITTED TO THE BAR.—C. D. Longfellow, Esq., was admitted to the bar of this county at the late session of the Court of Common Pleas at Meadville. Mr. L. has been a practitioner for several years in the State of Connecticut. His office is over Ralph's store on Franklin street, where he will attend to any professional business which may be entrusted to him, with accuracy and dispatch.

LARCENY ON DAWSON FARM.—On Friday night last an engine house belonging to A. G. Meyers, on Dawson Farm, was broken open, and 800 feet of tubing abstracted and carried off. The thief was tracked to Pithole city, where he was arrested and the property recovered. The rascal effected his escape.

CRUDE petroleum is being extensively used in Western New York for the destruction of insects on trees. It was found that the acids of refined petroleum were injurious to the trees themselves, but the crude is harmless and has the desired effect in permanently destroying the vermin.

A TERRIFIC hail storm occurred in Rochester, New York, on Sunday last. There was an immense destruction of window glass in all parts of the city, buildings were unroofed, chimneys blown over and whole families blown up. It is thought the fruit tree nurseries have been severely damaged.

THE German Catholics have been holding high festival in Buffalo. The celebration commenced on Sunday, and ended yesterday. Houses and churches were trimmed in gay style, and the different societies formed processions and paraded the streets.

THE sale of property advertised by the O. C. R. R. at Shaffer takes place on Saturday next.—Persons wishing to attend the sale can take cars at Titusville and return free.

Down the Creek.

The last number of the Reno Times correctly designated Petroleum Centre as the most productive locality in the oil region. Nearly two-thirds of all the oil which is sent from the oil fields finds its way from there, and in no other place are so many large and long continued producing farms to be found in a cluster. Here the dull sound of the drill and the creak of the walking beam never cease, and the ruddy glow of the furnaces is never extinguished. The rumble of teams and songs of the boatmen are heard all day long, while there is no stillness at night, and during its dark hours the rugged hills echo back in deeper notes the sounding strokes at the many forges, and the rumbling of the bull wheel and the cable. A noisy and ceaseless activity pervades everything and is heard everywhere. From the same stand-point the eye can rest upon the deep vale of Bennehoff, the innumerable derricks of Stevenson and McClintock farms, while Funkville, the Egbert, McGray, Dalzell and Story are all spread out at a little distance beyond; Pioneer Run, though not visible, is near at hand, and the celebrated Tarr farm within little more than a mile distant.

Oil Creek is very low. The tiny rivulet which now finds its devious way among the bars and rocks that form the bed of the far-famed Oil Creek, bears but little likeness to the mighty torrent which swept with irresistable fury along the same course but a few months ago, rending the rocks from their base, driving the huge cakes of ice far up on the dry land, and piling bridges, boats and dwellings into one indiscriminate mass of ruins. One can scarcely realize, as they wander along its quiet banks, and listen to its subdued murmurs, that the diminutive tide could ever have swelled into such undue dimensions.—Now every shoal is a bar, and every bar almost impassable. The black hulks of flatboats lie thickly strown along its entire course—some high and dry ashore, and others stuck apparently in the middle of the channel. Here and there a light straggler may be seen with one or more horses attached, either up or down the stream as the case may be, laboriously finding its way in a sort of amphibious manner, now hard rubbing over the smooth rocks, and then gliding over the deeper water. Notwithstanding the discontinuance of boating, there is not so much teaming as usual, in its stead.

Erie—1853 and 1865.

ERIE, May 21, 1865.

Editor Morning Herald:

The fact that the staid citizens of this plodding town are becoming exercised again over "a railroad question," recalls the incidents of the railroad and peanut war of 1853. Everybody remembers the barricaded road, torn-up track, dismembered bridges, up-set trains, and all the pettifogging horrors incident to the time. Owing to the different guages of the Lake Shore Road, there were two changes between Buffalo and Cleveland, passengers had hardly got comfortably seated before they had reached the State Line, where, in crowded trains, and especially at night, the inextricable confusion must follow a "change," that was to be repeated, after a still shorter transit, at Erie. To obviate this disagreeable, tedious and of course expensive routine, the company desired a uniform guage throughout, and having obtained requisite consent of the Legislature, commenced the contemplated work. Erie, already worried with jealousies of her rival sister towns, and dreading the effects of the proposed "improvement" upon her "commercial" interests (peanuts, popcorn and gingerbread,) resolved to interpose for its prevention. Erie was a "paying point," especially to the Erians, and if the Railroad should go by, Erie's dignity would collapse, and Erie city would subside into a "way station."

The Railroads were resolute, the Erians were incorrigible. Figuratively, the Company took off the coats, the People protested; the Corrolled up their sleeves, the mob threatened, the Company moistened their palms, (i. e. the laborers took up their picks, and 'spit on their hands,') and all Ear—y, no longer able to bottle her indignation, hoisted the pirates' emblem, and appealed to the 'God of Battles.'

Erie knew her resources, and her patriotic squadrons soon covered the field. Three thousand able-bodied peanut peddlars, led by a public affection, 'rushed to glory,' on behalf of 'grave—y.' The squad was organized in the public square, and were then marched in front of the county newspaper office to give three lusty cheers for the editor thereof. In his next issue I believe the editor stated—if he did not, he was an ungrateful fellow—that the procession was thirty minutes in passing a given point on the street, a fact furnishing some faint conception of its surpassing length. But it was observed by a sober individual in town, that, the given point was a grog shop, and that every member of the procession 'deployed' in front of the bar long enough to bring his courage to the sticking point with a liquid half pint of 'chain lightning.'

To abbreviate—they marched to victory. By a series of wonderful combinations they carried everything at a swoop. Rails, bridges, cars, buildings, resisted unavailingly for a time, and finally succumbed. They picked pockets, broke trunks, and pummelled every passenger who said "Boo!" Such a glorious "charge" had never been witnessed except by those who, at that period had bits to pay at "first class" Erie hotels! The result—the peanut tax was restored, Erie cursed from Dan to Beersheba, while a final compromise changed the guage, and gave to Erie the distinction of being the only stopping place between Harbor Creek and Fairview!

But as Erie has survived the odium of this performance, and to-day with its lively and entertaining Dispatch, its Gazette and Observer, both stirling and plain speaking journals, there is little danger of the people relapsing into the disgraceful policy of intestine broils to right imaginary offences.

The city is growing with great rapidity, and business has nowhere a livelier aspect. The Oil region has poured an abundance of treasure into this locality, and it must enjoy a permanent prosperity. TRAVELLER.

FLOUR.—3,000 barrels best Family Fleur, purchased previous to the late advance in prices, for sale by my17 HAIGHT, ARCHER & CO

Dr. Kayner, a geologist, of Painesville, Ohio, has in press a very interesting and complete work on the geology of the oil regions, the origin, formation, and probable duration of oil, etc., etc. It is by far the most comprehensive and complete work of the kind yet introduced—a duodecimo of 150 pages—ready in a short time.—Erie Dispatch.

Dr. Kayner is stopping temporarily in Titusville, having visited this region for a practical investigation of his subject. He has furnished several interesting communications to the HERALD, and his forthcoming work is likely to meet with an extensive circulation.

PHILIP K. FAULK, a printer, of Greensburg, who lost his right arm in the battle of the Wilderness, in 1864, was among the successful competitors for premiums for left-handed penmanship. The literary merit of his manuscript was also highly commended.

HALIFAX, May 21.

The steamship Cuba from Liverpool the 12th via Queenstown the 13th, arrived here to-day. Continental news continues warlike, but a Berlin dispatch to-day says hopes are entertained in some quarters of the maintenance of peace, probably on the ground that Austria will make some concessions. It is believed that no formal treaty has been concluded between Prussia and Italy, and the Paris correspondent of the London Telegraph believes on good authority that there is still a chance for peace if England and Russia will join France in a Congress.

LIVERPOOL, May 12.

German politics are unchanged at Vienna.—The last raised Mexican volunteers will enter the Austrian army.

The steamer L'Imperatrice Eugenie, from Mexico has arrived with troops and nine million francs; three millions for the French treasury. The Paris bourse was very irregular but closed firm. Rentes 64f 2c.

In Great Britain the financial panic culminated late on Thursday afternoon, the 10th, in the suspension of Overend, Guerney & Co. Their business was converted in August last into a limited liability company with a nominal capital of five millions sterling, of which a million and a half was paid up. The liabilities are stated at from ten to twelve million pounds sterling.—Their break down is attributed to heavy speculative sales of shares which forced them down from ten premium to a discount. The depositors began to get alarmed and drew.

On the 10th there was an application for assistance made at the Bank of England, but it was declined, on the ground that it would be in vain, in a crisis like the present, to assist one establishment, unless they were prepared to help other applicants as well. It was too late to make a call on the shareholders, or to take any other steps. The doors of the establishment were consequently closed. The failure does not compromise the Guerney Bank at Norwich.

On the following morning (Friday, the 11th) intense excitement prevailed in financial circles of London, Liverpool and other centres, and business was almost suspended.

The Times of the 12th, in its city article, says the Bank of England yesterday raised the rate of discount from 8 to 9 per cent., and charge for special advances to 10 per cent., and the pressure even at these rates was enormous and it was only on unexceptionable bills that accommodations could be obtained. Meanwhile additional and most serious disasters were announced. The first was of a comparatively small bank, the English Joint Stock, for £80,000; then that of Peto & Betts for £3,000,000; then that of W. Shrimpton, Railway Contractor, for £200,000, and finally it was understood that the Imperial Mercantile Credit Association, whose paid up capital is half a million sterling, and the Consolidated Discount Company, with a paid up capital of a quarter of a million sterling, must, with extremely heavy liabilities, go into liquidation.

During the day the most intense anxiety was manifested to ascertain if any steps had been taken by the leading bankers and merchants to represent to the Government the extent of the crisis, and a false notification in the stock exchange to the effect that an extra issue of bank notes, to the extent of ten millions had been authorized, caused at one time a general rebound in prices.

Later in the evening it transpired that the Government had resolved to suspend the Bank Charter Act.

The assets of Peto & Betts, even under the most depressed circumstances, are estimated at five millions sterling, and it is confidently assumed that in a short time a proposition for the adjustment of all claims can be submitted. Every one will hope that this may be the case, for Sir Morton Peto and his partner rank prominently among those who have carried the fame of English enterprise to all parts of the globe, while they have commanded high personal regard in all sections among their countrymen.

It is already known that several failures among dealers will be announced.

In connection with the approaching half monthly settlement in the stock exchange a large number of country bankers were in London to confer with their London agents to provide against all danger from local runs.

There was a run upon two or three banks, and being well met soon subsided. Both in London and in the country ample preparations were very generally made for such contingencies. Liverpool, in the cotton market, there was an increased panic at the commencement on Friday, but less unsteadiness at the close. At Manchester there was a complete panic. At Glasgow the iron workers resolved to suspend business till Monday.

In the produce markets at London prices were almost wholly nominal. Taking into account the depreciation which has simultaneously occurred in the English funds, railways and foreign securities, and the diminution in market market value of this property since the beginning of the year, it may be considered to reach one hundred and thirty millions sterling, to say nothing of the losses on cotton, cotton goods and other articles.

The Times says if anything can justify the suspension of the Bank Charter act, the panic which swayed the city to and fro on Friday may excuse the step, although we believe the reign of terror was approaching its end and would speedily have ceased had no infraction of the bank law been permitted. Even now it is probable that the license to the bank will not be used. It cannot, however, be denied that about midday yesterday the tumult became a rout. The doors of the most respectable banking houses were besieged, more perhaps by a mob actuated by strange sympathy which makes and keeps a mob together, than by creditors of banks, and the throngs tearing and tumbling about Lombard street made that narrow thoughfare impassable. Such excitement on all sides has not been witnessed since the great crisis of 1825; each man aggregated the suspicions of his neighbors, and rumors, at that time unfounded, were circulated in the afternoon that the Government had authorized bank directors to issue five millions additional in notes, and it seemed as if fear and distrust of the commercial world had become boundless. The statement was baseless at the time, but served to allay the panic which had no solid foundation. The announcement of Peto's suspension did not revive the panic in its first intensity, and the statement of their stoppages produced little effect.

The Times adds. We need to be persuaded that had the Government stood firm the panic would have subsided itself, and if we are to expect that confidence will be speedily restored, we shall attribute it to natural causes rather than to the interference of the executive.

The Daily News applauds the wise and prompt action of the Government and says: During Friday the bank had extended its loans and discounts until the amount exceeded four millions sterling. The effect was to reduce bank reserves by nearly three millions. This diminution and prevailing distrust justified Government intervention. The action of the Government was announced in the House of Commons on Friday at midnight by Gladstone, who had been engaged all the evening in consultation with the bankers and others who represented to him that the panic in the city was without a parallel in the financial history of the country.

Mr. Gladstone said he had addressed a letter to the Bank of England to the effect that if they could find reason to afford relief to the wants of legitimate commerce and make such advances as would require the issue of notes beyond the amount allowed by the act, the Government recommended them not to hesitate in doing so, and undertook, in the event of that contingency, to make immediate application to Parliament for an act of indemnity.

Parliamentary proceedings are unimportant.

The Herald says at a very large meeting of Lord Derby's supporters on the 11th it was resolved that no opposition should be offered to the second reading of the Reform Bill for the redistribution of seats, and that the bill be allowed to go into committee.

The cholera continued to prevail among the passengers of the Helvitia and a few additional deaths not confined to the Germans, are reported. The steamer remained in quarantine. A large number of the crew took forcible possession of the tender and deserted the vessel, but subsequently were prevailed upon to return.

The Austria, Prussia and Italy question of war, for the moment, is overshadowed by the financial panic. There is no modification in the threatening aspect of affairs.

The Times, in a summary on the state of affairs on the 11th, says the whole Prussian army and great bodies of troops are massed along the frontiers. Austria is bringing into the field every man she can raise, and it is said the whole nation is panting for war.

There were rumors of communications by France and England with Austria with a view to avert an outbreak, but nothing authentic.

The latest Florence papers regard war as inevitable, and say, by a modification of the Ministry about to take place, La Manora will receive the military command.

It was stated that the King of Italy would leave Florence May 15th for Piacenza.

The Italian Chamber of Deputies passed, by a vote of 208 to 46, a bill granting government extraordinary powers to provide for the maintenance of public safety.

The exportation of horses is prohibited from Italy.

Offices for the enrollment of volunteers have been opened in Florence.

The city of Venice is said to be closed to traffic from without.

Italian and German journals had become more reserved in their account of armaments and military intelligence.

NEW YORK, May 20—1 A. M.

The Academy of Music and three other buildings are on fire. The whole block is threatened. Further particulars soon.

SECOND DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, May 22—2:30 A. M.

The Academy of Music is a mass of ruins, together with the Medical University, and a large stone building adjoining on Fourteenth street; also Ihre & Co.'s piano wherehouse. It extended across Third avenue to Worcester & Co.'s large piano warehouse, which was mainly destroyed. The Lutheran Church on Fifteenth street was also consumed. Seven other large buildings contiguous to the Academy were burned.

It is impossible to determine at this hour the entire loss, but it will probably reach from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000.

One steam fire engine was burnt, but as yet no lives are reported lost.

There was a performance of opera at the Academy to-night, but it terminated an hour previous to the fire breaking out. The firemen have got the fire under control now and will confine it to the above locality.

Adjoining the House and easily connected therewith a rough pine building, 16x40 feet, two stories high, with double siding.

In the rear is a stable 36 feet square, two stories high, shingle roof, oak stalls, mangers and floor.

Both House and Barn have been built but five years, are neatly painted and in excellent repair, which, in connection with their location, render them admirably adapted to Hotel purposes.

The whole establishment with sufficient ground for garden purposes will be sold upon reasonable terms. Apply upon the premises or at the Office of the Hickory Farm Oil Company. my16tf

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, May 22.

Commercial's money article says: News of the panic in London has produced a sympathetic effect upon the market here, though as yet to no serious extent. The large purchases from the Sub-Treasury for shipment, by withdrawing suddenly a large amount of currency from the banks, has produced a marked derangement in the loan market, which is attended with a certain feeling of uncertainty. This morning there has been a very extensive change of hands. Early in the day parties whose loans have been called in were hurrying around the street and freely offering at 7 per cent, at which rate they mostly found accommodation, so that thus far there has been no realizing upon collaterals. About 1 o'clock money was offered somewhat freely at 7 per cent and the indications appear to be that the market will close easier than it opened.

PETROLEUM MARKETS.

TITUSVILLE, May 22.

Notwithstanding the downward tendency of the eastern markets the producers are holding on to their oil at figures 50c above yesterday's quotations, without any sales that we hear of.

The Pittsburgh markets are just as unsteady as the producing market. Until the shippers and producers approximate each others figures there is no probability of large transactions taking place. The difference to-day is about $1 00 to $1 25 per barrel; or in other words the price of oil in New York being 27c, the shippers cannot safely afford to pay more than $3 25 at the wells and the producers are asking $4 25@4 50.

The next advices from Europe are looked forward to with the greatest anxiety. If the war cloud is likely to blow over, the eastern markets may advance and a healthy reaction take place

This possibility may be the cause of the producers holding their oil at such figures.

There is evidently, however, a disposition on the part of the producers to try the effect of keeping their oil out of the market as long as possible.

The Pittsburgh operators have hitherto controled the eastern markets to a great extent, and there is no reason why the producers cannot do the same in future; if they build iron tanks for the purpose of storing their oil

The shippers are very nervous at the present inequality of prices and cannot be convinced that there is any probability of an immediate advance in the eastern markets. They argue that the large stock of oil stored in Pittsburgh, will, upon the slightest indication of a rise, be sent forward to the eastern markets and thus keep down the price, and it would therefore be very unsafe to operate, even could oil be bought at much lower figures than what it is offered.

LATER.

The advices by the Cuba which have just come to hand bring the news of heavy failures to the extent of between $70,000,000 and $80,000,000, accompanied by a general financial convulsion in England. This could not have occurred at a worse time for our petroleum interests, as it deprives us of every hope of a better condition of the market.

The producers will probably hold on for a few days to see how it affects the markets, as they are anything but anxious to sell, especially under so uncertain a condition of affairs. Perhaps this news may have the opposite effect to what most operators suppose, and the eastern markets may jump up suddenly, as they did when the tax was removed, without any apparent cause. Stranger events than that have happened to the oil market, which above every other is the most fickle and uncertain in its movements

It is supposed by some, that a large amount of American securities held in England will be sent out here to pay for our productions, petroleum included. This may cause an active demand. While others are of opinion that it is only gold which will relieve the financial panic in England, and that it will cause a flow of English merchandise and American securities held in England to this country to be changed for gold. This will probably be indicated by the effect which it has upon the eastern markets

PITTSBURGH OIL MARKET.

[Special to the Morning Herald.]

PITTSBURGH, May 22.

Not for weeks has the crude petroleum market been so quiet as it was this forenoon, there was actually nothing doing. The nominal quotations were 14c barrels returned and 19c barrels included. In consequence of the light supply of crude being on sale sellers were not disposed to press sales and the market may be given as pretty firm at these quotations. On the other hand buyers were limited and felt disinclined to operate at this time, preferring to wait other developments which they think will occur to their advantage. We heard of no transactions during the forenoon.

Bonded oil was entirely neglected. Offers of 41c for Philadelphia delivery in May are occasionally made, and 42c for June. The nominal quotations for Pittsburgh are declining.

[illegible] Valuable Gifts.—A Novel Fourth of July Entertainment.—Mr. E. H. Crittenden, the enterprising and popular proprietor of the Prize Concert Gifts, announces in this paper, and in the Titusville Herald, an entertainment for the Fourth of July, in the form of a mammoth Prize Concert. The novelty of the attraction consists in the distribution among the audience of upward of two thousand and ninety valuable gifts, amounting in the aggregate to $40,700—the grand prize being the large two story building extending from Spring to Diamond street, valued at $16,000. The lot is 24 feet front by 140 feet deep. The building combines both store and dwelling, the former fronting on Spring street and having a spacious door yard, ornamented with trees and shrubbery; the store on Diamond street, adjacent to the Crittenden House, and constituting one of the most advantageous and valuable business localities in the city. The prize list also includes a one-sixteenth working interest in well 108, Booker farm, a valuable horse and buggy, two gold watches, twenty-five double cased silver watches, and the entire stock of wines, liquors, cigars, glassware, and furniture of both store and dwelling above described. A complete list of the prizes will be found in another column. There will be four thousand and seventy tickets, and two thousand and ninety prizes, or a prize to every other ticket holder. Every ticket holder will be registered, and every ticket numbered in duplicate. The distribution will be in charge of a committee of disinterested citizens, to be selected by the audience at the time and place designated.

We have never before commended enterprises of this nature, from the fact that they are too often undertaken for purely speculative purposes, and managed by unprincipled parties who impose on public credulity. In this instance the facts are quite the reverse. Mr. Crittenden's references are Messrs. F. W. Ames, J. T. Chase, R. D. Fletcher, J. T. Briggs, C. C. Duffield, and W. W. Kingsland, gentlemen who are prominently known throughout the oil region. We have carefully examined the schedule and are confident there is nothing fictious or unreal about it. It is a matter of fact sale of unencumbered property at par value, by an extensive plan of distribution among ticket holders to an unexceptionable entertainment, and does not in any manner conflict with the common or statutory law.

Our citizens generally understand Mr. Crittenden's object in this matter. He has built and furnished at an enormous cost the largest and best hotel in the oil region. In giving it his exclusive personal attention, and devoting his entire capital to its success, it necessitates the suspension of his former business and the disposal of all other property. Every person interested in the reputation and prosperity of Titusville should appreciate the necessity of sustaining an enterprise of this character. The price of tickets is fixed at $10 each. More than half the ticket holders will receive gifts, and some of them will have abundant cause for rejoicing.

EMPIRE LINE.

THE EMPIRE TRANSPORTATION COMPANY

Now offers to the business community a RELIABLE FAST FREIGHT LINE between the EAST and the WEST, and the GREAT OIL REGION OF PENNSYLVANIA.

It owns and controls all the cars of its Lines, which are new, and built expressly for the trade, and furnished with BROAD TREAD WHEELS, which enable it to run through irrespective of change of gauge, thus avoiding the injurious delays prevalent at transshipping points.

The Line is managed by men of long experience in the business, and no effort will be spared on their part to render satisfaction to its patrons.

Parties ordering goods from the East will please direct Shippers to Mark Packages "EMPIRE LINE," and refer them to the Agents of the Company for shipping directions, &c.

☞ Particular attention given to forwarding OIL to New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore.

For rates of freight, shipping directions, &c., apply to our Agents in the different Eastern and Western cities.

CITY ORDINANCES.

AN ORDINANCE to provide for the reorganization of the Fire Department.

Section 1. Be it ordained by the Common Council of the city of Titusville, that the Fire Department shall consist of a Chief Engineer, First Assistant Engineer, second Assistant Engineer, a company for each hand engine, a company for the Hook and Ladder apparatus and a company for each of the Hose Carriages; each of said companies shall have a Foreman, Assistant Foreman, Secretary and Treasurer, to be chosen by the members of said companies.

Sec. 2. The Chief Engineer shall be appointed by the Common Council and held his office during the pleasure of said Council. He shall have sole command at fires, over all members of the Fire Department and all other persons who may be at fires, and shall have power of a policeman to carry this ordinance into effect. It shall be his duty to examine into the condition of all engines and other houses and of all engines and other apparatus belonging to the city and used for the purposes of the Fire Department, and whenever any building, engine or other apparatus used for the purposes of the Fire Department requires any alterations, additions or repairs, he shall report the same to the Committee on Fire Department. It shall also be the duty of said Chief Engineer to keep on hand an inventory of all property belonging to said Fire Department, and to furnish the Clerk of the Council a copy of said inventory every three months; said Chief Engineer shall also receive and transmit to the Common Council all returns of officers, members, and fire apparatus made by the respective companies, and all communications relating to the affairs of the Fire Department. He shall also report all accidents by fire which may happen within the city limits, with the causes thereof, as well as can be ascertained, and the number and description of the buildings destroyed or injured, as near as can be ascertained, together with the names of the owners or occupants thereof.

Sec. 3. The First and Second Assistant Engineers shall be elected by the members of the several Engine, Hook and Ladder and Hose companies. They shall take general charge of the apparatus at fires and cause all orders of the Chief Engineer to be executed; they shall also see that the engines and other apparatus, and the several buildings in which the same are deposited, and all things in and belonging to the same are kept neat, clean and in order for immediate use. In case of the absence of the Chief Engineer, the First Assistant Engineer shall perform the duties of the Chief Engineer, and in case of the absence of the Chief Engineer and First Assistant Engineer the Second Assistant Engineer shall perform the duties of Chief Engineer.

Sec. 4. The Foreman and Assistant Foreman of the several Engine, Hook and Ladder and Hose companies shall be elected by the members of each of said companies. They shall exercise all powers and perform all duties prescribed in section 3 of this ordinance. It shall also be their duty to preserve order and discipline in their respective companies.

Sec. 5. The Secretary of each of said companies shall keep a roll of the members of said company, a copy of which shall be furnished to the Common Council or Chief Engineer at all reasonable times upon request and he shall also keep a record of the proceedings of said company.

Sec. 6. The Treasurer of each of said companies shall have charge of the funds of said company and shall pay out the same in accordance with the by-laws of said company or by a vote of the majority of the members.

Sec. 7. All engines, hose, hose carriages, and hook and ladder apparatus now in possession of the city of Titusville are hereby declared the exclusive property of said city, and shall so remain. And whatever expenditures shall be voluntarily made by the Fire Department, or by any company belonging to the same, for the use and benefit of the city, or for the ornamentation of any engine or other fire apparatus, in the possession of the city, shall be deemed the property of the city of Titusville, and shall not under any circumstances be permanently displaced or removed without the special consent of the Common Council in the form of a resolution to that effect.

Sec. 8. It shall be lawful for the Mayor, or any Councilman, Chief Engineer, First and Second Assistant Engineers, the Foreman or Assistant Foreman of any engine or other fire company, the Fire Marshal of any Fire Warden, or the Chief of Police, to require the aid of any citizen or inhabitant of the city of Titusville in drawing any engine or other apparatus to or from any fire, or in working any engine at the fire, or for the removal or guarding of property, and every person who may refuse to obey said orders shall be liable to instant arrest and confinement, and to a fine not exceeding twenty dollars, upon conviction before the Mayor or any Justice of the Peace.

Passed May 10, 1866.
H. B. OSTROM, President of Council.

Attest:
F. B. GUTHRIE, Clerk.

Approved May 10, 1866.
JOEL N. ANGIER.

I certify that the foregoing ordinance was unanimously passed by the Common Council of the city of Titusville and approved by the Mayor, May 10, 1866.

CHOLERA

DISARMED!!!

The chief Causes of Pestilence Destroyed

DR. E. COURTARET'S DISINFECTING FLUIDS, Secured by Letters Patent in the United States and France. Prepared solely by the New York Disinfecting Company, at their Laboratory, Nos. 208, 200, and 302 Henry street, N. Y. Office, 42 Cedar street.

This Company organized on a permanent basis, with Dr. Courtaret, the celebrated French Chemist, in charge of its Laboratory, is prepared to furnish its DISINFECTING FLUIDS for sick rooms, nurseries, urinals, water closets, privies, cesspools, sewers, gutters, ships, railroads, hospitals, prisons, and public institutions of all kinds, slaughter-houses, oil and fat-boiling establishments; all kinds of manures (immensely increasing the value of the latter to every farmer), and wherever poisonous and offensive gases exist. These agents are deodorizers, antiseptics, antiputrescents, and disinfectants in the scientific meaning of the words. They remove noxious gases and odors by chemical principles—leaving in their places healthful ones; they are DESTROYERS, and not merely absorbents of poisonous gases—not injurious to utensils in which they are used. The attention of medical and scientific men is directed to these disinfectants. Attached are testimonials in favor of this great discovery, which, with hundreds of others can be seen at the Company's office.

DELAVAN HOUSE, ALBANY, March 26, 1866.

To the President of the New York Disinfecting Company.

Dear Sir. It is all it is represented to be. We have made many trials of disinfectants, but none consider that we have found an article which for purposes all others as a remedy against all bad odors.
